Feed for Horses.

The appropriate kind of grain to be fed must depend upon the work to be performed. If the horse is to be driven rapidly on the road, then only such grains as contains a large portion of nitrogenous food should be used, such as oats, peas, wheat bran, oil-cake, etc. Probably the best rations for medium sized livery horses is 8 pounds of hay, 8 pounds oats, 4 pounds fine wheat bran, and a 1 pound oil-meal, per day, costing, at present prices, 30 cents. This small amount of oil-meal should not be omitted, as it will generally prevent constipation, and assist in the digestion of that is liable to be adulterated. Rye or

In this case 10 pounds hay, 10 pounds of the mixed meal, and I pound of the oil-meal, or 8 pounds of the meal with 4 of fine bran, costing, in most places not over 25 cents per day. He claims that these oats, if sown in October, will afford as fine pasturage as rye, all through the winter, and will yield a more bouptiful crop than any other variety cut in the spring. He also regards them as proof against rust.
